Moving Beyond Telling to _____

John 1:39 (GW) Jesus told them, "Come, and you will see."

Invite inexperienced disciples to _____ with you to:

- Walk together through a neighborhood or park and stop to talk with people.
- Go together to visit someone who is isolated or hurting.
- Work together to serve a widow or single mom.
- Ask a class member to watch you teach for a couple of weeks and then have them teach a session or a portion of a session.
- Invite someone to help you with a volunteer task at church or in the community.
- Form a wine sipping group, a family outing group, a BBQ sampling group, or whatever you like group, and, as part of your time together, read through a section of a Gospel and take turns answering: "What is one thing God is asking me to believe, say or do?"
- Write your idea here!

Move people from telling to _____, from concept to experience.

Moving Beyond Participating to _____ Jesus _____ from telling and participating to replicating.

Jesus calls Matthew in Matthew 9:9 and by 10:1, He's already sending Matthew and the rest of the disciples out to replicate what they've learned.

In Luke 8, Jesus calls the twelve disciples to follow Him, by Luke 9 He sends the twelve out to replicate what they've learned, by Luke 10, he sends six times as many (72).

Jesus isn't discipling fully informed scholars, he's training apprentices: 1) He tells the main truth of the Gospel. 2) He asks them to participate in His mission to redeem and restore people, and 3) He replicates disciples who make disciples.

If we want to see Jesus' discipling results, we need to follow Jesus' discipling process. And Jesus' process includes sending out inexperienced disciples to replicate with others what they are finding out with us.

– Greg Finke

Jesus' 3 step discipling process:

_____ me how,
_____ me how, then I
_____ how,

results in multiplied truth, multiplied experience, and multiplied disciples joining Jesus in His mission to redeem and restore family members, church attenders, friends and acquaintances, and more!
